LW1794.4. (p. 71), the only copy, reported by LEONCINI to be at the Biblioteca Nazionale, Bari, cannot be located, probably making this book a 'ghost'.

LW1797.2. (p. 71), change publication data to Vienna: A. Doll, 1797.

LW1832.2. (p. 87), as of July, 2014, OPAC SBN no longer lists this book, making its existence impossible to confirm.

LE1495.4. (p. 97), this edition does not contain a commentary.

LE1499.3. (p. 98), the commentary is the anonymous ‘familiare commentum’.

LE1507.2. (p. 100), the commentary is the anonymous ‘familiare commentum’.

LE1507.3. (p. 100), the commentary is the anonymous ‘familiare commentum’.

LE1508.2. (p. 100), the commentary is the anonymous ‘familiare commentum’.

LE1509.1. (p. 100), further research suggests that this edition is a ghost.

LE1510.1. (p. 100), contains a variorum commentary edited by Pietro Vitale.

LE1514.2. (p. 101), the commentary is the anonymous ‘familiare commentum’.

LE1514.3. (p. 101), the commentary is the anonymous ‘familiare commentum’.

LE1530.1. (p. 103), the commentary is the anonymous ‘familiare commentum’.

LE1531.1. (p. 104), the publisher is Michiel Hillen de Hoochstrat.

LE1534.2. (p. 104), contains notes.

LE1540.2. (p. 105), contains arguments, not notes.

LE1540.6. (p. 105), contains commentary by Herman van Beek.

LE1541.2. (p. 105), the publisher is Michiel Hillen de Hoochstrat.

LE1544.2. (p. 105), the book was published in Lyons, not Paris.

LE1544.3. (p. 106), the publisher is Joannes Steelsius.

LE1548.2. (p. 106), the commentary is not by Vives; the entry on the Paris edition should be Willich, Josse. Scholia in Virgilii Bucolica.

LE1550.2. (p. 106), does not contain a commentary.

LE1556.1. (p. 107), delete and replace with the three entries above.

LE1560.2. (p. 107), contains anonymous brief notes.

LE1566.1. (p. 108), contains commentary by Mento Gogreve.

LE1568.1. (p. 108), also contains Stephan Reich's Erotemata in Bucolica Virgilii.

LG1555.1. (p. 121), the commentaries are to the Eclogues, not the Georgics.

LA1509.1. (p. 127), the notes are by Johann Schott, the editor.

LA1525.1. (p. 129), edited by Nikolaus Gerbel.

LA1575-1576.1. (p. 131), a variant exists with both the title page and colophon dated 1576.

LA1588.1. (p. 131), contains Eclogues and Georgics along with the Aeneid.

DE1676.1. (p. 144), correct the printer, to Johannes van den Berg, and the date, to 1666.

DA1599.1. (p. 145), the printer is Jan van Waesberghe.

EW1735.1. (p. 150), this is the second edition, to be distinguished from a third edition by the same printers in the same year.

EE1783.1. (p. 162) and EA1783.1 (p. 175), the translator's name is William Green?

EG1709.1-3. (p. 165), the date in the note for Annual Miscellany should be 1709, not 1694.

FW1582.1 and FW1582.2. (pp. 179-80), this is the same edition, with the sheets divided between two printers, Perier and Auvray.

FW1690.1. (p. 181), the French translation is accompanied by a Latin text.

FW1743.1. (p. 184), exists in both an illustrated edition and a cheaper edition without the illustrations.

FE1714.2, FE1724.1, FE1726.1. (p. 196), the translator's first name is Antoine.

FE1788.3. (p. 200), the translator's first name is Jean-Pierre.

FE1800.1. (p. 201), this edn., which is dated 'an VIII' in the French republican calendar, is the same as FE1799.1 and should therefore be deleted, since the year in question straddles two years in the Gregorian calendar.

FG1787.1. (p. 214), a second state exists, in which the sheets are preceded by a title page that places the book into a Latin language instruction series.

FA1514.1. (p. 220), the Princeton copy has the printer's mark of Petit on f. v6r, while Maggs Bros. sold a copy in August, 2013 with that of le Noir.

GG1571.1. (p. 239), add Jakob Apel the Elder as second printer.

IW1757.1 (p. 251), published separately, not as part of the collected works of Caro.

IW1757.2. (p. 251), E and G are in fact present, with their own title page, sometimes bound with A, sometimes separately; same sheets as IW1757.1, with a different title page incorporating the translation into the collected works of Caro.

IA1540.2. (p. 267), the translator of A6 is Giovanni Lappoli, called il Pollastrino, not Alessandro Piccolomini.

IA1544.1. (p. 268), the second book in this composite edn. was printed by Niccolò Zoppino.

IA1608.2. (p. 272), probably the same book as IA1607-1608.1.

IA1692.1. (p. 273), exists in three variant states (OPAC SBN 034131, 017853, and 027212).

IA1790.1 and IA1795.4. (p. 275), this is 1 2-vol. edn., so the correct entry should read IA1790-1795.1.

HA1779-1804.1. (p. 286), correct the date, to read HA1799-1804.1.

Da1753.1. (p. 289), only vol. 1, containing E, was published.

SwA1806.1. (p. 293), the only Virgilian material among a collection of translations from Latin authors is the Camilla story, on pp. 83-117.

RG1821.1. (p. 298), the translator is A. Raich.

SW1627.1. (p. 301), a counterfeit of this work exists, published probably in the same year by Antonio Alvarez in Lisbon.

SE1574.1. (p. 302), the translator's full last name is Fernández Idiáquez.

Ce1550.1. (p. 309), the edition was actually published in Lyons by Jean Pullon, according to G. H. Tucker, "Virgil Reborn, Reconfigured, Reinvented in the Early Modern Verse-Cento," in Virgil and Renaissance Culture, ed. L. B. T. Houghton and M. Sgarbi (Tempe, AZ, 2018), 186 n. 26.

Ce1575.1. (p. 310), the edition was actually published in Geneva by Jacob Stoer, according to G. H. Tucker, "Virgil Reborn, Reconfigured, Reinvented in the Early Modern Verse-Cento," in Virgil and Renaissance Culture, ed. L. B. T. Houghton and M. Sgarbi (Tempe, AZ, 2018), 187 n. 29.

Ce1575.2. (p. 310), also includes extracts from a hybrid cento of Pierre Viret, De theatrica Missae saltatione cento.

Ce1601.4. (p. 313), this is the fourth part of the collective volume that includes Ce1601.1-3, printed by Bernhard Wolter.

Ce1606.1. (p. 313), also contains Spada's In celeberrima mausolei and Deiopoeia ecloga ex Virgilio.

Ce1614.1. (p. 313), also contains Spada's In celeberrima mausolei and Deiopoeia ecloga ex Virgilio.

Ce1616.1. (p. 314), also contains Scena motuum in Gallia nuper excitatorum Virgilianis et Homericis versibus expressa.

Ce1618.1. (p. 314), the French form of the author's name is Estienne Depleurre.

Ce1678.1. (p. 317), the author's last name is spelled Heckel.

Co1593.1. (p. 321), one of the two states has a second title page dated 1592.

T1651-1652.1. (p. 328), a counterfeit in imitation of T1650-1651.1, published in Caen by Éléazar Mangeant, who was notorious for his false imprints of theatrical works.

T1662.1. (p. 329), add Rouen as a second city of publication.

T1666-1676.1. (p. 329), delete this entry and replace it with the following:

T1676-1678.1. Scarron, Paul. Aeneis 1-2. Translated by Willem Van Focquenbroch (Willem Godschalk). 5 pts. in 1 vol. Amsterdam: Baltes Boekholt and Jan Claesz ten Hoorn, 1676-1678.

Contained in pts. 4-5 of Van Focquenbroch's Wercken, ed. by Abraham Bogaert, along with trans. of E; BNF; Dutch.

T1674.1. (p. 330), the author is one Julien, avocat au baillage de Poissy.

T1726.2. (p. 333), same sheets as T1726.1, suggesting that the print run was divided between the two printers.

T1784-1794.1. (p. 334), should read T1784-1788.1, since vol. 4, a supplement to Blumauer's travesty, was often added to 'complete' the early editions but in fact was published separately in 1794.

T1794-1798.1. (p. 334), is a composite edn. with Schaber's supplement (vol. 4), published separately, added to the 1798 edn. of Blumauer's travesty. It should be replaced by:

T1798.2. Blumauer, Aloys. Virgils Aeneis travestirt. 3 vols. Frankfurt/Main and Leipzig: s.n., 1798.

WC; German.

I am grateful to Susanna Braund and Emi Brown (University of British Columbia) for sharing their research on Virgilian translations, which is the basis for some of the references above.
